

The Power of Our Words

Words are critical; they can heal or wound; they can build up or tear down. Saying wrong words can be destructive. Things like "I'm right and you're wrong" We need to remember we are all sinners and so should be quick to listen to others and slow to speak or answer back. Being sarcastic is another way we use destructive words toward others. If we feel the need to speak the truth to someone it should be done in such a way to build them up, not tear them down. Unkind and unloving words are like darts that pierce the other person's heart. But words of kindness, graciousness and love will help build others up and the blessing will flow on to you. The Bible tells us the a word spoken at just the right time, in just the right way, is like a beautiful picture surrounded with a frame of gold! Who have you blessed today with your words?
