ALL RIGHTS & NO RESPONSIBILITIES

A message from the Principal

Today's world is telling us we have rights, which is true and particularly in a first world country like Australia.

And not only do we have rights, but laws are being made or rewritten to support those rights. But if the scales of life tip to suit all our rights, then what happens to our responsibilities. If everyone goes around saying "I can do this, I have rights" or "you can't do that because I have rights", where will that leave our society? Very soon we would have chaos and anarchy. People would do what they wanted without any thought of the outcome. Letting our children believe that they can do whatever they want without there being some form of consequence is neither right, nor good for them. Parents, having clear and firm boundaries for your children is not wrong.

Making rules in your home around things like respect, manners, chores, technology etc, is so important and necessary. Children who are brought up to think the world owes them something are not nice to be around. I guess as parents we need to ask ourselves: Do we want our kids to like us? Or do we want other people to like our kids? Hopefully it's the latter and if so, then help your children understand that with their rights, also comes their responsibilities!

EMERGENCY EVACUATIONS & EMERGENCY LOCKDOWNS

From time to time throughout the year, we practise emergency evacuations and lockdowns as part of our health and safety procedures. The practice of emergency evacuations are a fairly straightforward event, with everyone moving to the asphalt from wherever they are, when they hear the evacuation siren. They line up in their classes and teachers and aides check them off. Once the practise is over students are released back to class.

With a practise lockdown, it is a little more complicated, in that when the alarm is sounded for a practise, students and staff, wherever they are are required to go into a place where they can hide and be still, out of sight. For older students this is quite easy, if they don't muck around. For younger children it can be a little scary, so we do try in simple terms to explain basic reasons why we might need to do this, without making them scared.

If you would like to talk to us about this process, please give me a call through the school office. RL

CHAPLAINCY

As you may know the federal government give money towards a chaplain in Australian Schools. Schools have the option to take up this offer or not. Here at Geneva we actually have 2 chaplains, Mr. Dance & Mr. Eyles. The funding we receive goes a little way in providing for our chaplains and Geneva provides the remainder. Devonport Chaplaincy oversee all chaplains along the north west coast, and they are seeking donations to be able to support the short fall for all school chaplains. If this is something you would like to be part of, then you can do this by contacting the Devonport Chaplaincy office on the following number.

PH 6417 3175 or visit www.devonportchaplaincy.org.au

CONTACTING CHAPLAINS

Devonport Chaplaincy have made it easier than ever to get in contact with our school Chaplains whenever you need. This is a great outlet that allows easier accessibility to Chaplains and greater support for you and your child.

Here are our School Chaplains numbers for you to use when needed.
