NO BELT, NO BUS

This is our new catch cry for all those who travel on our buses. Often when I get on the school bus in the afternoon before they leave, I see a rush of students grabbing their belt and quickly putting it on. School buses are one of the safest ways to travel, which includes wearing a seatbelt. Parents and students have agreed to abide by this when enrolled at Geneva, we need it followed through please. Sadly, it is the senior students who are the worst offenders, We need them to lead by example.

Commit everything you do to the Lord.
Trust him, and He will help you.

“Boys Play With Trucks, Girls Play With Dolls” Why gender is biological?

According to a new study, differences between boys and girls are biological and not fluid, as transgender theory claims. Research revealed in the Infant and Child Development Journal concluded that gender preferences in children are not so much the result of their environment and upbringing as they are intrinsic within the child. Sixteen studies composed of 787 boys and 813 girls were documented. Researchers found that consistently “boys played with male-typed toys more than girls did, and girls played with female-typed toys more than boys did.” This finding won’t surprise most parents, but it defies prevailing transgender theories that say gender differences are simply a “social construct.” The same innate gender preferences were observed in a variety of contexts. “No significant effect of presence of an adult, study context, geographical location of the study, publication date, child’s age, or the inclusion of gender-neutral toys” made a difference, the data showed. The scientists concluded that the data from these studies indicated “gender differences” have a “likelihood (of) biological origin.” In other words, before you were born you were a boy or a girl, and that’s not subject to change. - Life Site News
